

I strongly believe in the consumer's right to transfer a phone number be it wireless or landline to whatever service provider I choose. The phone company does not own those numbers, the people own those numbers. If I paid for it, I should be able to take it with me to a better service provider. The big companies are sharks and all they want is to swindle the little consumer's independence.

Thank you.